The city council deserves commendation for enacting the anti-spitting ordinance. Phoenix people have too long been annoyed by the disgusting habit of men who use the sidewalks as cuspidors. The ordinance will, however, fail to bring the desired relief unless offenders are promptly arrested. A few examples will work wonders in the direction of complete reform. The spitters must go.—Republican.

A Perry, Ok., dispatch says: All gambling houses, six in number, of the city were closed this morning, which threw about 100 men out of jobs. The gamblers are very indignant over it. The newly-installed county attorney also gave strict orders for all saloons to be closed up at midnight and Sundays.

In cases where dandruff, scalp diseases, falling and graying of the hair appear, do not neglect them, but apply a proper remedy and tonic like Hall's Hair Renewer.

In Trouble.
The man who was placed in jail yesterday for stealing a horse blanket, was arrested because of an affidavit charging him with "cruelty to animals" in depriving the horse of the covering he needed to protect himself from catching cold. The doctors are unanimous in saying that horses have better temper, require less food and their hair has a more glossy appearance, when clothed with the West Texas Saddlery Co's horse blankets. Go see them at corner of Overland and Oregon streets.

Oil Heating Stoves.

The "Orient" is still in the lead of all competitors. Although still early in the season, they are selling rapidly. The "Orient" has become so well known that it is not necessary to describe it here in detail. It is a heater, an ornament to any room, and can be converted into a cook-stove. No other light is needed when an "Orient" is in the room. It is the handsomest and most popular oil heating device ever invented. Over one hundred now in use in El Paso; and they are cheap. Write for circular.

SERVICES IN THIS CITY YESTERDAY IN HONOR OF IT.
Sermons in the Morning and Union Services at Night in Chopin Hall With Stereopticon Illustrations.

It was a field day yesterday for the El Paso Young Men's Christian Association, and the special services held in the morning and at night showed up well the good work that is being pushed here for the betterment of many young men in this city, and the efforts being made to carry out here the great work that has been carried out with such a marked degree of success elsewhere, both in this and in other countries.

In the morning, there was a sunrise prayer meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and later there were morning sermons on the Y. M. C. A. and its work in the First Methodist, the Presbyterian and Christian churches. There was special service at the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon, and at night the day ending with a union meeting in Chopin hall. The Trinity pastor was unable to preach on the subject in the morning as he had intended to because of illness; while at the Baptist church there was a revival in progress, and the pastor did not think it advisable to make any break in the continuity of the work there.

Owing to pressure on the HERALD's columns today, the synopsis of the three Y. M. C. A. sermons, preached yesterday morning, and the revival discourse of Rev. Hardy of Palestine, have had to go over until tomorrow.

Chopin hall was well filled last night with interested people in attendance on the exercises there, and the evening was profitably spent. The program as printed Saturday by the HERALD, was successfully carried out, and on the program were what a railroad official, the college pastor, and a prominent pastor said of the Y. M. C. A. as follows: Theodore Vorhees, vice-president of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad: "From a strictly utilitarian point of view the Y. M. C. A. is the best thing that has ever happened to the improved tone of the men. The work of the association is directly in the interest of economy. While it may be urged by some that it is no part of the business of a railroad company to make Christians of its men, or undertake to do the work of the churches, it may confidently be said that it is very much the business of the company to make such men moral men, its employees, and that any money successfully expended for that end is well invested, and will bring manifold returns in better service, better care of stock and track—real economy in all expenditures."

Seth Lowe, president of Columbia College: "Going about your streets is a young man, perhaps without a friend. Tomorrow one of your members may meet him and bring him here. That man, who tonight is a stranger, wondering what he can do to pass the time before him, tomorrow comes here, and in his hands are placed all the agencies of this association as a weapon for him to use, and he can go next week or the week after and bring in another like himself. But I ask you to remember that it is not the association as a whole that does it; it is the association that allows the individual to do it. Just as the steam engine has increased the power of man in communicating through the business of a railroad company, the association like this increases the power of the individual man in his efforts to do good in his day and generation."

Rev. Floyd W. Tompkins, Jr., pastor of Christ church, Hartford, Conn.: "Nothing in the past century has done more to fill up our churches, to give us earnest lay workers, and, more than all, to save young men and lift them out of the association that is the power of the individual man in his efforts to do good in his day and generation."

At the foot of the card was: Yearly membership $7.00; Junior $2.00, which entitles the holder to baths, gymnasium, reading room, library and many other attractions. Rooms open from 9 a. m., until 10 p. m. each week day.

CHARMING LADY TULLY

Age and Wrinkles Enchanted Into Youth and Beauty.

The accomplished Madame Tully, who has been celebrated for more than fourteen years as the most advanced scientist of the land in the successful treatment of all facial blemishes and skin diseases, has arrived in this city and taken elegant apartments at the Pierson hotel. This charming lady is credited by the highest authorities of fashionable society with the magic power to convert permanently the wrinkles of age and all blemishes of the features into the very bloom of continual youth. She comes here with a bevy of trained assistants to introduce the latest European discovery, the new thermo-electric treatment, which has created so much excitement abroad by actually restoring to the features no matter how old or wrinkled or discolored by age, all the plumpness and charm of sweet sixteen. The process is a secret, but that it is a success beyond doubt or question in every case is not only guaranteed by Madame Tully herself, but proclaimed by the elite of eastern and southern society, who the ladies have greeted its recent introduction with all manner of enthusiasm as a real and lasting solution of the problem of perpetual youth and beauty. Under the magic touch of the fair mistress of this art ladies with fairly good complexions improve remarkably, and even those who have long since surrendered to the "crow feet" or to blotches, scars or blemishes of any sort are delighted to find their features restored permanently as by enchantment after only two weeks' treatment.

Madame Tully is the very princess of her art, endorsed by great physicians and the most expert by society devotees of facial beauty.

After music by the choir, President Foster, of the Y. M. C. A., made a report of the year's work. As to the finances: The year's receipts were $11,711.55; $1375 from subscriptions, $777 from dues, and $304.44 from various sources. The expenses were $1089.75; $267 for the improvement of the gymnasium, $1433.75 for actual expenses, and $125 per month for rent, salaries of general secretary, pay of janitor, expenses of the reading room, and other incidentals. This left a surplus increase of $31.10. There was a debt of bank years amounting to $184.71 on which the Y. M. C. A. had been paying interest. The management was to conduct the association on business principles; and for the first time, the association was now paying its way.

The president made extended reference to the athletic features of the Y. M. C. A. and in detailing the advantages of the new gymnasium, said it was the intention to inaugurate athletic games. The present secretary, Mr. Sloane, was a graduate of the Y. M. C. A. training school at Springfield, Mass., and was just the man to conduct the athletic features of the association. Ladies' classes had also been organized for gymnastic work. The educational phase of the association was touched upon. There were classes and lectures which would be amplified in the future. Heretofore, there had been instruction only in Bible study and Spanish; but this part of the work would be much enlarged. The rooms were open every week-day from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. There were 500 books in the library, with magazines and papers. The speaker advised people not to throw aside their magazines, after reading. Give them to the Y. M. C. A. and after the association is through with them, they can be given to the prisoners in the jails. The social feature of the association was becoming of marked interest. This included socials, suppers, musical and literary entertainments in the association rooms. There had been lectures and entertainments given in larger halls, but this had not proved profitable, and as the gymnasium would seat two or three hundred people that place would be fitted up with a view to having lectures and other entertainments there where there would be no expense for a hall. The advantages of the reading room and other privileges were well set forth, and the fact stated that religious influences were by no means forced on a man, but all the best influences would be thrown in a young man's way if he would only take advantage of them, and the work of the Y. M. C. A. made plain as the fruit of the tree. The work is not a national and the rooms are for a home for young men. The association wished to reach 200 young men this year, and continue the institution on a business basis.

Mrs. Irvin, for the Ladies' Auxiliary, read an interesting paper in which she said that the Auxiliary was organized in 1892, and the membership was thirty-eight. The business meeting was held the first Thursday in each month, except in the hot summer months, when there was a vacation. The annual election was in October, and all the meetings were opened with prayer, for the work could not be continued without divine help. The Auxiliary was attending largely to developing the social features of the Y. M. C. A. and her apartments are ideal; fitted up in a manner becoming to such a charming woman as Madame Tully. The stock which she carries is large and her assistants are the most experienced, having been with her for some time. The stock is fresh and that it is perfectly reliable is shown by the fact that Madame Tully has recommendations from all the leading physicians of the south, such as Drs. A. M. Fry of Galveston; M. Pearl of Houston; R. M. Swearingen, of Austin, and many others of Texas, where she has long been located and where she has among her patrons the most aristocratic people.

Among the many things in her stock is a patent oil steamer, which is perfectly harmless and can be used by ladies at their own homes. These steamers can be purchased at a very low figure.

The feminine lovers of clear complexion will find that Madame Tully's Almondine, a day skin food, and Wool Oil, a night skin food, just the thing for which they have long been looking. Another article which Madame Tully has for sale is the massage one, by the application of which wrinkles are removed. These cups have been pronounced the best thing of that kind, and many will be glad to know that they may be purchased.

Madame Tully also has for sale depilatory powders, the application of which is the only known way to permanently remove superfluous hair without pain.

Ladies should call at once, as the Madame will only remain a short time, as she is on her way to Mexico City. Parlor 30 and 32, Pierson hotel.

After singing by the congregation, Supt. Putnam of the public schools exhibited a series of stereopticon views illustrating the workers and buildings of the Y. M. C. A., both in this country and abroad. This was very interesting and gave the audience a valuable object lesson in what the Y. M. C. A. has accomplished throughout the world. It was noticeable that in a number of comparatively small places the buildings were of a superior character.

The Y. M. C. A. work in this city ought to go ahead now with greater activity and earnestness than ever, especially as the institution is now on a business basis, and has active, energetic men in control, especially since it has such a capable, active and devoted christian secretary in Mr. Sloane.

There is a series of small and large cures in the medicine books of the Cuban mountains which are being gradually filled up, and that too in a most remarkable manner. The common land snails, of which there are many species and varieties in Cuba, make these cures a resort during the dry season. They congregate on the floors of the caverns in immense numbers and millions of them never leave. The reason is this: The water which drops from the roofs or ceilings of the different caverns contains a large percentage of carbonate of lime. When the water evaporates the lime is left behind, and acting as a cement, it glues great layers of the snail shells together every year. This process going on, season after season is gradually filling up the Cuban caves, and it is only a question of time when there will not be a single cavern left on the island.
